Near-Suicide Tells Doctor Queer Story Plasterers Are Given Ultimatum Today

BUILDERS WILL DECLARE AN OPEN SHOP IF PLASTERERS DO NOT RETURN TO WORK

Edmonton Builders Held Meeting Yesterday Afternoon, at Which Plasterers Came in For Some Sharp Criticism, and Were Given an Ultimatum.

They Must Return to Work By Next Tuesday Morning and Give Official Notification That Strike is Off, Or Open Shop Will Be Declared.

If the local plasterers who are out on strike for higher wages do not return to work by Tuesday, Nov. 1, and notify the builders' exchange of the calling off of the strike, an open shop will be declared as far as the plasterers' union is concerned.

Such was the unanimous decision of the Edmonton Builders' Exchange at a meeting in the exchange rooms yesterday afternoon, called for the purpose of taking positive action in regard to the striking plasterers. After a discussion members condemned the demands of the men as unjust and also criticised the manner in which the men acted when they stopped work, and also charged them with a total disregard of the rights and convenience of both the interested contractors and the investing public. The opinion of the exchange was drawn up in a resolution, delivering an ultimatum to the strikers that they must return to work by Nov. 1, and that an open shop would be declared.

THANKSGIVING DINNER WILL BE RATHER COSTLY AFFAIR

Turkey Now Twenty-eight Cents a Pound, Will Be Thirty Cents by Evening—Seven Cents Higher Than Last Christmas.

"Have you bought your supplies for the Thanksgiving Day? If you have not you will discover that by six o'clock tonight you will have to pay 30 cents per pound for your turkey." Prices this year for almost all food-stuffs are much higher than last year. Turkey in the stores is as high as 28 cents per pound. Chicken runs to 24 and 26 and not very good chicks are being sold at 12 cents. So it is like that. Thanksgiving Day dinner is going to cost the "pinner families" a good deal more this year than it did last.

This morning in the market there were a large number of people who had discovered that prices there were not so high as in the shops and therefore had got up early to get the best of the bargains.

Turkey in the market square is selling at 25 cents per pound, and other supplies are selling at a proportionately low price. The market is not so busy as it was last year. Last Christmas turkey was 25 cents per pound and a chicken cost 35 cents.

The whole range of prices tends towards an increase on last year and the Thanksgiving dinner is likely to cost a considerable amount more than it did in other years, unless the housekeeper exercises her judgment and pays an early visit to the market.

The other day one gentleman received a telephone message from his wife at this office telling him to bring home a chicken for dinner. Accordingly he went to the market and found out that the best he could do was a small one weighing three pounds which cost him exactly $1.35. He said that he was not so sure that he was not better off than he was last year.

HOLD CONFERENCE RE CIVIC FINANCE

Commissioners and City Auditor Consult Over Centralization of Civic Accounts.

As the city's fiscal year draws to a close, the conference of the city commissioners, City Auditor Richardson and the heads of the various departments in regard to the centralization of civic accounts, adopted by the city council on the recommendation of the commissioner. Each department is taken up individually and matters peculiar to each of the departments in relation to the proposed system gone into fully. It is expected that affairs will be in such a state by the end of the fiscal year on October 31, to permit of the accounts of each department dealing with current expenditure and the disposition of materials, being transferred to the city hall.

AT THE POLICE COURT

Three men were fined $4 and costs for being drunk, the magistrate at the police court yesterday.

The case against Jno. Finnigan for the theft of an overcoat from Lyon's store was dismissed.

Wm. Stetson who was charged with vagrancy, in the police court this morning, was given thirty days in jail at the Fort. He had previously served twenty-six days for drunkenness, and was well known to the police.

ONE THOUSAND DROWNED

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 28.—One thousand persons were killed at Chen Kiang, China, early this month following a rain of the Han River. Large areas in the Chen Kiang and Yangtze districts were inundated. News of the disaster was brought here today by the steamer Kamakura Maru.

Yokohama was inundated when the ship left that city two weeks ago. Rain had fallen for seventeen days, and three thousand houses were uninhabited. The Asakusa Honjo, Shitaka, and Yantunaka districts were completely flooded last August were again under water.

MAN OFFERS HIMSELF TO POLICE; NOT WANTED

Winnipeg, Oct. 29.—Frank Donald, now of Regina, for whom a bench warrant was issued at the Morden assizes in connection with a murder trial, but was not executed because his whereabouts were unknown, came to Winnipeg on a business trip and, noting in the press that he was wanted, on his arrival here phoned the Crown prosecutor at Morden, but was not there. He then appeared, in case having been withdrawn. Mr. Donald kept for plain clothing, to close up some business matters there.

A BUSY TIME NEXT MONDAY

Thanksgiving Day Will Be Very Formally Observed During the Dinner Hour.

IT IS HALLOW'EEN ALSO

Many Sporting Events Are Scheduled and There is Something for Everybody.

While roast turkey and pumpkin pie will be the order of the day on Monday, festivities will by no means be confined to the "dinner hour." The trains pulling out of Edmonton towards all four points of the compass ward large numbers bound for a holiday or returning to assemble once more under the potential of special rates on the railways being yesterday and are good to return till Tuesday.

HE TAUGHT COURT TO PLAY FAN-TAN

Mah Wing Tells Judge What Happens in the Celestial Gambling Game.

"You play three: if you win, you take the money; if you lose, you pay," said Mah Wing, as he initiated the District Court into the mysteries of the Celestial game. Mah Wing was giving evidence in the case of the Chinaman found gambling in the street yesterday. He was called by the Crown, and an assistant who raised the place one evening at 10 o'clock. Mah Wing gave the thing away to the officials and allowed himself to be bound and arrested along with some twenty other Chinamen.

Called on to give evidence, the first difficulty arose over his name, being a Chinaman he was not supposed to be bound by the Christian oath and J. E. Wallbridge, lawyer for the defence, insisted that he be sworn by the Chinese oath. Accordingly the court room in a matting bag, accompanied by the executioners' axe in the shape of a long knife and a pill to receive the victim's blood. However, Mah Wing claimed that he was a Christian, and that being such he was an insult to force him to take the chicken oath.

"Not touch that chicken how he can call himself a Christian," said Mr. Wallbridge, "he hasn't been inside a church for some time."

"Well, as to that," remarked Judge Taylor, "I'll guarantee there are lots of Christians in this town that have not been inside a church in that length of time."

"What makes a Christian, anyway?" continued His Lordship. "If it's baptism, a large percentage of those who come up to take the Christian oath would be rejected."

At length it was agreed that Mah Wing could take whichever oath he liked so he stepped up to receive the Christian oath.

The next difficulty was that of hearing or understanding him. Having a weak thin voice and not being well acquainted with the court, while in the attempt to follow him but the counsel at length gave it up and called an interpreter to its own to make his story intelligible.

When these difficulties were at length disposed of, he gave evidence that on the evening in question he went to Sam Sing's house and going up stairs joined the crowd there, playing fan tan. Here it became necessary to demonstrate to the court the mysteries of the Chinese game to the jury. He said that he was a mat was spread on the platform, the chips poured on it, and the witness proceeded to instruct the court, while all interested craned their necks over one another's shoulders to see a game was being played.

This done, he continued his evidence as to what happened on the evening in question. It was that he played for some time with Charlie Lang until the game was interrupted by the arrival of Chief Lancey.

'Twas Chilly, But This Man STOOD IN RIVER UP TO NECK

Said His Church Had Told Him to Do It—Believed That He Is Either Insane or Else Has Touch of Fever.

A man standing up to his neck in the Saskatchewan river at 8 o'clock yesterday morning was the sight that was seen by an employee of the British Columbia. It seemed a strange thing to do at this season of the year, so the employee went across to the river bank and brought the man over telephoned to the Medical Health to the office and having warned him, officer, Dr. Whitelaw, who brought the ambulance down to the river with him, and the man conveyed to the Public Hospital.

At the hospital it was found that the man was a French Canadian, named Oles O'Blard, who in the opinion of the doctor was either suffering from the results of a debauch or was demented.

"What were you doing in the river?" Dr. Whitelaw asked.

"I was told to do it by my church," was the reply.

"What is your religion?"

"I don't know,"

"How long were you going to stay in the water?"

"I stayed until God told me to come out. But I have to go in again, Yes I shall go in again this afternoon."

Possibly Insane.

At first Dr. Whitelaw thought that the man was suffering from typhoid fever but as there has been no signs of any temperature, he has decided that the man is insane through drink. Little could be discovered about him except that he had some letters in his pocket from people in Montreal and that he had been working for the C. N. R.

It was also found out that he had worked with a threshing outfit at Wapchope and had belonged to a football club in that town. He carried a photo of the club in his pocket, with his own picture in the group.

DR. WHITELAW OBJECTS TO ONE PLANK OF NEW LEAGUE

That Part That Says Health Department Should be Remodelled, Does Not Meet With His Approval.

"I see in a morning paper," said Dr. Whitelaw to a Capital reporter, "that this morning, when he dropped in to see him, 'that the Improvement League has made the Isolation Hospital a part of their platform. Listen here."

"The health department to be remodelled, to be a part of the platform, modern lines, in order that it may properly grapple with such burning issues as the isolation hospital, the food inspection, especially milk, open sewers, and the slaughter house nuisances."

"There is one burning question that I see they are not going to grapple with, the health department does not want to be remodelled. What it does want is the passing of some by-laws by the city which will enable it to do the work which is required by the isolation hospital. It is a place for the nurses to work, and the isolation hospital, in fact, and this is going to be done. The council have instructed me to draw up plans for 'nurses' home' to be built early next spring."

"If the city likes to pay for a meat inspection, it will be an excellent thing, but there are many larger cities than Edmonton that have not got one, and I think it is only fair to have one in the country that will have one. The slaughter house, open sewers, are all part of the health department, in the fastest manner possible, and I do not see that any more can be done in the matter."

Municipal League Draws Up Platform

The Municipal Improvement League has now a draft of platform for submission to a series of public meetings, the first of which will be held Tuesday, November 1st, at the hall, Tuesday, November 1st, at the hall, Tuesday, November 1st, at the hall.

The platform is a list of resolutions, the first of which is a statement of the League's purpose. The second is a statement of the League's policy. The third is a statement of the League's program. The fourth is a statement of the League's platform.

LOTS OF NOISE BUT NOT MUCH DAMAGE

Wind Storm Swept City at an Early Hour This Morning.

THIRTY-EIGHT MILE RATE

Increased in Rate Thirty-four Miles An Hour in One Hour.

Although the wind storm last night, or rather this morning, as it did not start until 6 a.m., sounded as though the roof was going to be blown off the house it was not as bad as was imagined.

At 5:30 this morning the velocity of the wind was four miles an hour. But at 6:30 it was blowing a gale at the rate of 35 miles an hour.

Not much of a Wind.

"Oh, that isn't much of a wind," said the meteorological man this morning when the Capital telephoned to find out if it was a cyclone. You can get it a lot worse than this."

So far there has been no damage reported due to the wind. One man said that his barrel of rain water was full of bits of sticks and seemed to be greatly crest-fallen about it, but beyond that there has been nothing.

Between six and seven o'clock this morning at the time when the wind was at its height the fire department had several calls to No. 2 station from the barn back of Jasper Avenue, where was ashes which had been thrown out by blowing about and were in danger of setting fire to the adjacent buildings.

The endorsement of the principal of recall as a new departure in municipal government, a statement which might be unpopular, the argument of the committee being that Edmonton was a city of "cheap men" for its big offices.

The endorsement of the principal of recall as a new departure in municipal government, a statement which might be unpopular, the argument of the committee being that Edmonton was a city of "cheap men" for its big offices.

At the union of the municipalities of Edmonton and Strathcona, the city of Edmonton is being formed with intelligence and in a manner to bring about the same satisfactorily.

C.N.R. WOULD LIKE J. TRAVIS-BARKER

Have Asked Him to Look After Their Immigration Department in England.

HE HAS NOT DECIDED YET

Mr. Barker Is Well Qualified For the Position—Has Interests Here.

Mr. J. Travis Barker, who is well known in local circles, has been offered the position of immigration agent for the C. N. R. in the British Isles, with headquarters at Bristol. The Canadian Northern have decided to push an immigration campaign with vigor since the establishment of their new steamship line and by means of their through transportation service will be able to select the vacant lands along their western lines. Mr. Thomas Howell has been in Edmonton for some time with a view to arranging for the establishing of Edmonton headquarters and has selected Mr. Barker as the man most suitable to undertake the work in the Old Country.

Mr. Barker is an old timer in Edmonton and none is better acquainted with conditions here, and the whole of the Canadian Northwest. He is a man of spirit as he is, he is in touch with all important movements and the men at their head-quarters. Moreover, being thoroughly acquainted with conditions in the Old Country, he has been particularly in England and Wales, to which countries the C. N. R. propaganda will be most strictly devoted.

Mr. Barker has not yet decided whether he will accept or not. He has large interests in Edmonton besides his connections with the associations here are necessarily of some weight when thrown on the scale against even such a tempting offer. The work however is of great importance and life in the Old Country will necessarily prove a great attraction to him.

ONE MAN KILLED IN CHOLERA RIOT

Italian Police Had to Shoot Into Mob Which Was Opposing Fumigation.

NEW DEATHS REPORTED

Many Inane Patients Lying Near Naples Are Suffering From the Scourge.

Rome, Oct. 29.—Inhabitants of Besenlig, near Naples, who are mostly fish folk, exasperated because of the prohibition of fishing because of the cholera epidemic, violently expelled doctors who were disinfecting the coast. A mob of about 500 men, armed with stones and clubs, drove the doctors away. One man was killed and a woman was probably mortally wounded.

Seven deaths from cholera occurred during the last twenty-four hours among the patients in the Asylum for the Insane at Aversa, in the province of Caserta, a short distance from Naples. The mortality among the insane at this asylum has been high during the last two weeks, and a majority of all the patients have succumbed to the disease.

In the city of Naples there have been no new deaths from cholera reported in the last twenty-four hours, but eight new cases developed in the province.

RAINY RIVER DISASTER.

The enterprise of Scotland Ltd., was again exemplified at their house in this city last night when fifteen splendid slides of actual scenes of the recent Rainy River disaster were exhibited depicting the devastated district, the remains of prominent buildings and many very interesting views of the destruction wrought by the terrible fire. In addition to which some of the families who suffered terrible privation and barely escaped with their lives were also shown. A novel method of explaining the slides was by means of a silent lecture.

FREE READING ROOM.

The Salvation Army will re-open their free reading room for the winter on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and will be kept open until the 1st of April. The reading room will be open to all from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. after which a service will be held in the chapel every evening, except Tuesday and Wednesday. The reading room proved to be a great blessing and profit to many last winter. Edwin Habkirk would be pleased to receive suitable reading matter from any who are inclined to help. It will be sent for by phoning 1572.

"P. O. CAFE LEADS THE WAY."

Three months ago the P. O. Cafe opened. Right from the start the room was found inadequate for the patronage, and the proprietors concluded to build an addition; 25x44 feet has been added, and four spacious boxes installed. No pains have been spared to make the premises inviting and expenses have been lavished on the equipment. The furnishings throughout are of the modern type, and the products up to the highest quality. The coffee served deserves special mention, in fact, nothing has been overlooked in the establishment of a cafe of the first class, which is one of the essential to a city of the first class. There is no better advertisement for a city than a good place to eat, and it was up to the proprietors of the P. O. Cafe to furnish such a board for Edmonton. We trust they will enjoy the liberal patronage they have merited.

A CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK.

Remben Fax, comedian, who comes to us with his father the imitable "Jimmie" Fax, for the first time on Tuesday, Nov. 1, in Separate School hall, is already assured a warm place in the hearts of the fun loving public of the West. Great talent is always hereditary, and so it is not to be wondered at that Remben Fax possesses in bountiful measure all those qualities that have made his father and uncle so widely known all over the continent. A chip off the old block he is in every way, the brightest, merriest young comedian who ever danced across a platform. They are coming under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Boy's club.

BANK CLEARINGS INCREASE.

The bank clearings for this month show a large increase on those for the same month last year. This year for October they amount to $6,027,032.60, while last year they only amounted to $4,461,143.

LUTHERAN

St. John's First German Lutheran Church, corner Kinistone avenue, and Third street. Services at 11 and 7. German Evangelical Lutheran Church—Corner Nelson avenue and Picard street—Services at 10:30 a.m. Scandinavian services are held every Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A. lecture room at the corner of Howard and May street. All Scandinavians are welcome. Rev. N. K. Bergen, pastor, corner of York and Willow avenue.

DEDICATED CHURCH.

The pretty little Anglican church, the church of St. Faith, located on Kennedy street, just south of Alberta avenue, was formally opened and dedicated by the Rev. Rev. Cyril Pincham, bishop of Calgary. The church is to be the headquarters of the mission established by the fund created by English archbishops, known as the Archbishops' Western Canada fund and was presented by Sir Henry Pellat. At the service this morning, many of the local Anglican clergy and a good representation of the laity were present.

The service took place at eight o'clock with a celebration of the Holy Communion, followed by the formal dedication by Bishop Pincham.

Rev. W. S. Boyd, who came to Western Canada in connection with the archbishops' fund, will direct the work of the mission and will have under his charge six ordained clergymen and five laymen. All give their services gratis, while their expenses are mitigated by the general fund. They are all unmarried. The country stations are west and north of Edmonton, including at Wahamun, Entwistle, Lac La Poudre, and Swallowhurst, while St. Andrew's church, which is located in the vicinity of the parking place, with Rev. C. H. Bailey in charge, are also associated with the mission.

The chapel of St. Faith's forms the channel of a temporary church, and the schoolroom which is separated from the church by folding doors, will afford a body for the church of sufficient size to meet the needs of the parish for some time to come.

Accommodation has been provided by the priests and lay workers by the erection of a two-story residence, which is 50 feet long by 30 feet wide, while a stable has also been provided for the housing of a team of horses and which will accommodate a permanent church, was presented by Mr. Alfred How, in memory of her husband, the Hon. Alfred Boyd, secretary of the first provincial government of Manitoba.

A. C. Lancy, the chief of Police, is leaving this afternoon for a short vacation. Deputy Chief Tidbury will assume the reins during his absence.

Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, left for Olds last night. He will return in a day or two.

The CONQUEST OF CANAAN

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,

Author of "Cherry," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

Copyright, 1906, by Harper & Brothers

"I am wearing my hat," answered Ariel, "because at any moment I may decide to go for a long walk."

"Oh, I hope not," said Mamie. "There are sure to be people. A few still come, even though I'm an engaged girl. I expect that's just to console me, though," she added, smiling over this wry quip of the betrothed and shaking her head at Eugene, who grew red and coughed. "There'll be plenty today, but they won't be here to see me. It's you, Ariel, and they'll be terribly disappointed if you weren't here. I shouldn't wonder if the whole town came. It's curious enough about you."

And now the young men of the town, laboriously arranged as to appear, began to appear on the street in small squads, making their Sunday rounds, the youngest working in phalanxes of threes and fours, those somewhat older inclining to move in pairs, the eldest, such as were now beginning to be considered middle aged beaux or (by the extremely youthful) "old beavers," evidently considered it advantageous to travel alone. Of all these there were few who did not before evening fell turn in at the gate of the Pike mansion. Conspicuously, shyly or confidently, according to the condition of their souls, they made their way between the cast iron deer to be presented to the visitor.

Ariel sat at the top of the steps and, looking amiably over her beads, talked with such as could get near her. There were many who could not, and Mamie, occupying the bench below, was surrounded by the overflow. The difficulty of reaching and maintaining a position near Miss Tabor was increased by the attitude and behavior of Mr. Filcroft, who that day cooled the feeling of friendship which several of his fellow townsmen had hitherto entertained for him. He had been the first to arrive, coming alone, though that was not his custom, and he established himself at Ariel's right, upon the step just below her, so disposing the great body and the posterous arms and legs the gods had given him that no one could mount above him to sit beside her or approach her from that direction within conversational distance.

Norbert, not ordinarily talkative, had nothing to say. He seemed to find nothing to occupy him in keeping the place he had gained, and from this close vantage he fastened his small eyes immovably upon Ariel's profile. Eugene, also apparently determined not to move, sat throughout the afternoon at her left, but as he was thin others who came and went were able to approach upon that side and hold speech with her.

The conversation of the gallants consisted for the greater part of witticisms at one another's expense, which, though evoked for Ariel's benefit (all eyes furtively reverting to her as each shaft was loosed), she found more or less enigmatical. The young men, however, laughed at each other loudly and seemed content if now and then she smiled. "You must be frightfully amused with all this," Eugene said to her. "You see how provincial we still are."

She did not answer. She had not heard him. The shadows were stretching themselves over the grass long and attenuated. The sunlight upon the trees and houses was like a thin, rosy pigment, blackbirds were calling each other home to beech and elm, and Ariel's eyes were fixed upon the western distance of the street where gold dust was beginning to quiver in the air. She did not hear Eugene, but she started a moment later when the name Joe Louren was pronounced by a young man, the poetic Bradbury, on the step below Eugene. Some one immediately said "Sh!" But she leaned over and addressed Mr. Bradbury, who, shut out, not only from the group about her, but from the other centering upon her. Pike as well, was holding a private conversation with a friend in like misfortune.

"What were you saying of Mr. Louren?" she asked, smiling down upon the young man. (It was this smile which later on she described to her as "a revelation and a dream.")

"Oh, nothing particular," was his embarrassed reply. "I only mentioned I'd heard there was some talk among the 'me'—He paused awkwardly, remembering that Ariel had walked with Joseph Louren in the face of Canada that very day. "That is, I mean to say, there's some talk of his running for mayor."

"What?" There was a general exclamation, followed by an uncomfortable moment or two of silence. No one present was unaware of that noon walk, though there was prevalent a pleasing notion that it would not happen again, founded on the idea that Ariel, having only arrived the previous evening, had probably met Joe on the street by accident and, remembering him as a playmate of her childhood and unimportant as to his reputation, had, naturally enough, permitted him to walk home with her.
